

What is Ubuntu Desktop Edition?

Ubuntu is a complete replacement for Windows. It includes thousands of free and open-source applications, and it works with common home and office programs.

Ubuntu is immune to Windows viruses, so you can browse the Internet safely with Firefox, create documents and spreadsheets, play games, music and videos, and much more. It includes a music store and a file-sharing service, and lets you communicate with your friends on Facebook and Twitter, straight from your desktop.

This CD will install Ubuntu in a number of widely-spoken languages, with many more available on demand. And because it's a long-term support (LTS) release, you can be confident that it comes complete with three years of support, and free security and maintenance updates.

Ubuntu is developed by a global community of users and is commercially supported by Canonical. Go to www.ubuntu.com and www.canonical.com to find out more.

Don't forget you can download a version of Ubuntu that has been specifically designed for netbooks at www.ubuntu.com.

Explore and install

You can try out Ubuntu before you install it. Simply insert this CD and restart your computer.

You can even run Ubuntu alongside Windows or replace your current operating system entirely. Simply back up your files and follow the installation instructions.

System requirements

This edition will run on most PCs, including those with Intel or AMD processors. To use Ubuntu, you should have a PC with at least 256 MB of RAM. And to install it, you should have at least 4 GB of disk space.

This software is released for free public use under several licences. It is provided without warranty, without even the implied warranty of merchantability, satisfactoriness or fitness for a particular use. See the licence text included with each program for details. Source code for Ubuntu can be downloaded from archive.ubuntu.com or can be ordered from Canonical at the cost of the media and shipping. Ubuntu, the Ubuntu logo and Canonical are registered trademarks of Canonical Ltd. All other trademarks are the property of their respective owners.

