

U-bun-tu?!

Little Baby-Tux has learned a new word. It's a very beautiful word that in several African languages means "humanity towards others". It's also the name of a free, userfriendly and powerful operating system for your computer which already is used by more than 6.000.000 people around the world.

Ubuntu is based on the healthy ideals of freedom, cooperation and humanity. To make Ubuntu affordable to all it has been provided free and made light enough to work on older computers. To make Ubuntu accessible to everyone it has been made userfriendly and available in most languages. Even a world wide community has been formed to provide us with assistance. Ubuntu is for everyone who uses a computer, rich as poor, technically adept or not, young or old. Ubuntu is free today and forever for us all to use, investigate and modify. The developers behind Ubuntu believes so strongly in freedom, openness and cooperation that they have given us the fruits of millions of hours of labour. They believe, among other things, that a system which we develop together in openness becomes better than what any individual or company can do. They were right, Ubuntu is a piece of art! Go ahead and discover Ubuntu. You too can enjoy a free system and thousands of free programs with no viruses, spyware and license fees.

Visit www.ubuntu-uk.org and www.ubuntu.com for more information!

This advert has been made and distributed by dedicated Ubuntu users without any support or participation from Ubuntu Foundation, Canonical Ltd or any other Ubuntu sponsor. Ubuntu with logotype is a trademark owned by Canonical Ltd. Picture of Baby Tux is made by Nicolas Rougier. This advert is published under the terms of the GNU General Public License (GPL), interested parties can download the original files from <https://wiki.ubuntu.com/MarketingTeam/Materials/>