Would you like to participate in a global event?

Ubuntu is a freely distributed, community developed, GNU/Linux-based operating system that is perfect for laptops, desktops and servers.

The Ubuntu Global Jam event is an incredible opportunity where members of the Ubuntu community will meet during the weekend of the 2nd, 3rd and 4th of October 2009.

The Ubuntu Global Jam event is organised around the world to happen on the same days. These events are led by local Ubuntu contributors, fans and users tied together by local communities (called LoCo Teams). At the event, there will be many things to do including writing documentation, discovering, reporting and triaging bugs as well as testing the next version of Ubuntu. There will also be many talks/presentations regarding different technological subjects.

This event will help to unite community efforts in a goal to improve the quality of Ubuntu system and software. This activity, although centred around making Ubuntu better, is not only open to developers. Anyone who would like to contribute or learn is welcome to attend. Here is your chance to make a difference.
